Forty-eight students with degrees from universities such as University of California at Berkeley, University of Toronto, University of British Columbia, University of Melbourne, Zhejiang University, Tianjin University, etc. have been admitted to the MSc program in Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering (CBME) this year.

The program orientation was hosted by the program director Prof. Minhua Shao. The new students were firstly welcomed by Prof. I-Ming Hsing, the head of the department.

Seven students from previous cohorts shared their experiences and gave advices to our new students after the program orientation.